Dual Purpose Mailer

Similar to collection/remittance envelopes, Dual Purpose envelopes are primarily used for charities, donations, or order forms. The large flap allows for printing on the inside so the user can fill in their information or details. The envelope can be sealed and sent to the recipient, who can then tear off the flap, fill in their information, and put it back in the same envelope to return to the sender.

FLAT SHEETS

About

Paper for envelope production must be uniquely and accurately sized. That's why our flat stock comes right from the sheeter, and is not finish trimmed on a straight-knife shear; it should be squared and trimmed before printing. All flat stock, other than cut size materials (8½ x 11 or 11 x 17) is sold F.O.B. (Free On Board) at our plant.

Inside Tints

Tints are printed on the inside of envelopes to help hide or distort whatever is inside. Below are examples of our common tints.

Standard Tints

Our standard tints can often be found in some of our stock products. They can also easily be added to your custom envelope job in any color you choose.

Wesco®

Our most popular tint, the Wesco pattern has a high opacity that provides complete protection against viewing an envelope's contents. This tint is included in many of our inside tinted stock products.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Starting with the Basics

We have all the information you need to make sense of envelope terminology and find the products you're looking for.

An Envelope's Parts

Regardless of size or variations, an envelope has the same basic parts: corners, flaps, folds, shoulders, throat, seal and seams.

The above diagram is a standard diagonal seam envelope.

Envelope Face

Envelope Back

To properly measure an envelope, place it before you with the flap at the top. The dimension from the bottom fold to the top fold is the height. The dimension from left to right is the width.

Measuring an Envelope

Booklet = Open Side (O.S.)

Open side envelopes have the opening or seal flap on the long dimension. When an envelope opens on the longest side, it's called a booklet envelope or an open side envelope.

Catalog = Open End (O.E.)

Open end envelopes have the opening or seal flap on the short dimension. When an envelope opens on the shortest side, it's called a catalog or an open end envelope. Catalogs and coin envelopes are the principal open end products we have in stock.

Standard Envelope Cutting

The following standard cutting table lists various sheet sizes and commercial envelope sizes used in manufacturing standard Western States envelopes. This list will help you determine the amount of stock required for your press using specific standard envelope sizes.

For custom envelopes it is very important that you provide us with your exact specifications, an actual sample or an actual mocked up sample of the envelope that you will be printing. Photocopies and faxes are not reliable methods for communicating correct measurements and scale.

We will then create a custom electronic layout that takes into consideration the guide and the gripper as well as the bleeds on that specific envelope die cut.

Important Note: Bleeds, solid overprints and flood coats will always affect your final layout and the sheet sizes needed.

Caution: It is also important to note that a bleed on the face of your envelope will always bleed 1/8" onto the flap, side or bottom of the envelope unless envelopes will be steel rule die cut. This is often confusing for those who are unfamiliar with envelope converting specifications. An actual envelope sample is the best and safest way to communicate how you want your final envelope to be created.

Layouts For Commercial Envelopes

There are many occasions when you may wish to run envelopes and business forms on the same sheet. The following are just a few of the more common impositions. For the most economical and accurate cutting possible, please call and send us your specifications. A dummy copy or copies of the envelopes, envelope sizes, sheet sizes, press sizes, and the gripper areas, along with any other limitations would be helpful. We will then provide you with an accurate cutting layout tailored to your exact manufacturing specifications.

NOTE: Bleeds will affect the layouts and sheet sizes listed below. It is important for you to request a Customized Electronic Layout created specifically for your exact specifications. Call customer service to request your layout.

Envelope Manufacturing

Custom Envelopes

Any of the stock items shown on the previous pages can be customized to fit your specific needs. Envelope size, style, construction; flap size and style; window size, location, covering material, multiple windows; paper grade, weight, color; printing inside, outside, spot-lite window messages; can all be modified to produce exactly the envelope you desire. Simply give us a call and our representatives will be happy to help you design the envelope of your choice.

Special Grooving

You can enhance the appearance of your commercial side seam envelopes by applying one of two grooved patterns. A vertical groove pattern or a wavy grooved pattern may be applied on envelope sizes ranging from a 6¾" to a 12". A minimum ordering quantity is required.

Converting

If you prefer to supply us with the appropriate paper, we will be happy to convert it into the envelope of your choice. Paper sent to us for conversion may be either plain or printed, whichever best suits your needs. For the finest quality and most economical results, it is important that any converting work be discussed in detail with us, prior to ordering paper. Variables, such as sheet size, grain direction, type of paper, printing layout, bleeds and varnish, can all work to your benefit when the job is properly designed.

Stock and Making

Many times it is more convenient to request paper from Western States for your flat sheet envelope printing needs. We will be happy to send to you the appropriate grade, weight, and color of stock, trimmed to the correct size. This feature reduces your waste factor, since we work with a wide variety of standard sheet sizes. In addition, you will be working with papers that are specially engineered to be used for envelope converting, giving the proper foldability and tear strength to the envelope.

Special Operations

Printing

We can print both custom envelopes and stock products. We have a variety of printing services to fit your needs, including offset, flexography, letterpress, digital inkjet, and digital laser printing.

Sheeting

Paper may be converted from rolls to sheets in our sheeting facility.

Die Cutting

A full range of die cutting services are available from Western States. Labels, folders, books, and brochures can all be die cut for you as individual items. Holes or windows can also be cut into those same items. Envelopes can be cut off with a straight edge (Flush Cut) or with a thumb notch (Thumb Cut).

Banding

A paper band may be applied to "bunches" of envelopes to aid in selling or handling for their end use. Typical counts would be 10, 12, 25, 50, or 100, although any count you wish can be obtained.

Gumming

Standard remoistening gum, such as that on an envelope seal flap, can be applied to sheets of paper or card stock in several ways. Edge Gumming is applied right to the edge of the sheet, usually rolled on. Strip Gumming is the application of a long strip of gum, located away from the edge of the sheet, usually pressed on. Spot or Pattern Gumming is much like "letterpress printing" with gum. Pres-Stik® or Latex Gum can be applied to paper or envelopes. When the two gummed surfaces are brought into contact, they adhere to each other. Kwik-Tak®, a pressure sensitive gum with a release paper, can be applied to sheets or envelopes. The release paper is peeled away and discarded and the gum will then adhere permanently to almost anything.

Hole Drilling

Single or multiple holes can be drilled into sheets, cards, or envelopes. These are typically used on interdepartmental mail envelopes to verify whether the envelope is empty or not. A wide range of sizes are available.

Shrink Wrapping

Shrink wrap can be applied around almost any size of envelopes in varying counts. Typical counts would be 10, 15, 25, 50 or 100.

Eyelet Application

Single or multiple metal eyelets may be applied to sheets, cards or envelopes. Eyelets are usually used to reinforce a hole that will be hung on a hook or will later be wired or strung.

Clasp Application

A metal clasp may be applied to almost any style of envelope, although it is normally used on open end catalog envelopes. We do not recommend that a clasp be applied to a white envelope, since the clasp metal will unavoidably leave a noticeable mark on the face of the envelope next to it.

String and Button

A string and button fastener may be applied to sheets, cards, or envelopes of any style. These fasteners are often used on open end catalog envelopes.

Multi-Tak®

A Multi-Tak™ seal tape closure for reusable sealing may be applied. These seals are used on open side booklets and open end catalog envelopes.

Hold for Release

Hold for release saves you space and time; we'll stock your customer's products and always have them ready for immediate shipping from the most convenient and cost effective location.

Sending Us Your Files

Upload Instructions

You can upload your files directly to our prepress department by visiting <http://portal.wsec.com/upload/>. Please make sure to note which Customer Service Representative the files should go to.

You can also send your artwork directly to the Sales Representative or Customer Service Representative you have been working with if your files are under 10mb. If over 10mb, please upload to the portal.

File Formats

We prefer Print Ready PDF as our primary file type for submission, but Adobe InDesign or Illustrator packaged files are also acceptable. When writing to PDF, ensure all fonts and images are embedded.

Artwork Considerations

- Outline all fonts. Fonts that are heavier and sans-serif will print better than thin serif or script fonts.
- Image resolution should be no less than 300 dpi for photos and effects. Logos should be supplied as vector graphics (outlined) to ensure the highest quality output. The 300 dpi rule does not apply to logos containing text or shapes.
- Type should be no smaller than 6 pt.
- Thin, small fonts with over 3 colors may register poorly. We recommend using 100% black or 100% of a spot color.
- All line weight should be at a minimum .5 pt stroke to assure optimum print results.
- We cannot guarantee the integrity of supplied drop shadows.
- Barcodes/QR codes should be supplied as vector art. Scans or poor quality rasterized images will be rejected.
- Bleeds for any element (image, stroke or fill) that goes right to the edge of the paper should extend a minimum of 1/8" beyond the edge of the final trim of the envelope. We may need to adjust your art even more depending on the envelope style you request.
- Envelope content that is not meant to bleed must be 3/16" from the final trim/edge of the envelope. This is also known as the safety zone. Artwork placed closer are in danger of being trimmed or folded that may create inconsistencies between envelopes.
- Gradients and drop shadows may produce differently than on-screen appearance. We may alter any gradients that fall below a 3% screen value.

Call Ahead

To ensure your order gets the care it deserves, call us as early as possible in your process to discuss your envelope.

FREE Layouts

We will need to furnish you with a specialized converting layout to ensure your job can be efficiently converted. Specialized layouts take account for bleeds, number of envelopes on a sheet, paper weight, quantity, etc... Specialized layouts are free of charge when used for a converting order.

Check Registration Marks

We understand that color bars and register marks are important to your pressroom. To ensure that they do not interfere with the converting of your envelopes, keep all registration marks and color bars at least 1/4" from all envelope die cuts.

Ink vs. Adhesives

To ensure that your finished envelopes stay glued shut, we will need to make sure the inks and coatings are pulled away from the areas that need to be glued. Be sure to ask for a specialized envelope layout to guarantee solid adhesive bonds.

Jog Your Sheets

Please thoroughly jog your shipment of paper before sending it to WSEC. If sheets arrive at our facility and need to be jogged, there will be a loss of production time, and an additional charge for this service.

Current Lead-Times

Your order is important to us. So important, that we would like to get it started in our workflow as soon as possible.

Contact your Customer Service Representative as early as possible to get your job started.

Allow for Manufacturing Variances

Please take our manufacturing tolerances into account when designing your envelope. Remember that we cannot hold artwork directly on the scores and will need at least 1/8" bleed on all artwork that holds directly on the scores. For artwork that requires extremely tight registration, a pre-printed sheet may not be the best option. Call your Customer Service Representative to discuss alternatives.

Setup & Spoilage Requirements

The amount of additional stock required for setup and spoilage will vary depending on the nature of your converting order and the type of stock you need converted. See the sheet calculator below for a general guideline. Call your Customer Service Representative to discuss specifics.

Sheet Calculator

First, find the quantity of envelopes and paper type needed in the table below. Then, follow this example: If you need 5000 envelopes on uncoated paper then, the formula would be $(5000 + 1000) + 20\% = 7200$. Then, divide that number by the number of envelopes you're getting out of the sheet. If the envelopes are set up 4 per sheet, then $7200 / 4 = 1800$ sheets are needed.

Envelope Qty.	Uncoated Offset Paper	C1S	C2S/Translucent
1M - 9M	$(Qty. + 1M) + 20\%$	$(Qty. + 1M) + 25\%$	$(Qty. + 2M) + 30\%$
